

Video Display Systems

Surpassing the capabilities of traditional visual display systems, Mauell video display systems revolutionize control room operations bringing the best in performance and hardware.

Mauell interfaces custom-built controllers with leading brand hardware systems to create virtually seamless visual displays designed to operate in 24/7/365 environments.

Mauell has been engineering video display systems since 1997, optimizing the ways control room operators see information and respond to changes in their systems.

The possibilities are endless...

Mauell video display systems drive control rooms to higher performance by delivering powerful technology and design modules built to suit client needs, and optimize control room operation.

■ Technology Follows Design

Mauell understands the uniqueness of every control room they operate in, evaluating the spatial, material, and usage demands before selecting the optimal technology to give it life. Mauell uses a number of different display technologies depending on specific control room requirements.

■ Performance and Support

Mauell certified technicians optimize every display system to a +/- 2 pixel offset to create seamless visuals. Mauell offers excellent post-installation support to their clients including system maintenance, parts replacement, and system training.

■ Seismically Qualified Structure

Mauell custom engineers seismically qualified support structures to house their display systems that include multiple equipment racks and stow-away access ladders.

■ Ergonomics and Design

Mauell incorporates ergonomic best practices in their systems including radius wall design and cable management systems. Mauell matches the fascia of each display structure to the existing room materials creating visual continuity for operators.

■ Full Factory Acceptance Testing (FAT)

Before shipping, all video display systems are assembled in-house and fully tested to ensure quality and performance before they are installed.

■ Display Control

Every Mauell video display system is fully integrated with custom and automated display controls that provide the optimal arrangement and adjustability of the what, when, and where to control room operators.
